CROSS-BORDER ISSUES CONFERENCE

NOVEMBER 18 - 19, 2010

HILTON MONTRÉAL BONAVENTURE
 MONTRÉAL, CANADA

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

Each day over $1.5 billion in goods move across the border between the United States and Canada. With this level of economic activity, many business aircraft operators from both countries conduct frequent cross-border flights. CBAA and NBAA have jointly developed a new seminar to address the common challenges faced by operators when crossing the border and flying in the airspace of both countries.

This interactive seminar will bring together industry leading experts on cross-border issues including government officials, aviation attorneys and international service providers. Representatives from agencies such as U.S. Customs and Border Protection, the U.S. Department of Transportation and the Canada Border Services Agency have been invited to participate.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This Conference is intended for: flight department personnel, aircraft owners and operators, aviation professionals, attorneys, schedulers, dispatchers and others who have an interest in cross-border flight operations. Both Members and non-Members of CBAA and NBAA are invited and encouraged to attend.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Attendees of this CBAA/NBAA Cross-Border Issues Conference will learn how to:

- Understand the oversight responsibilities regulatory agencies in both the U.S. and Canada have for cross-border flights
- Utilize trusted traveler programs in Canada, such as CANPASS
- Comply with Advance Passenger Information System (APIS) requirements for international flights both departing from or arriving to the U.S.
- Obtain economic authority to conduct commercial flights in both the U.S. and Canada
- Understand cabotage restrictions and their impact on flights within the U.S. and Canada
- Develop best practices for clearing Customs in the U.S. and Canada based on feedback from regulators in both countries

AGENDA

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 2010

12:30 pm – 12:45 pm Welcome and Introduction
Sam Barone, CBAA; Steve Brown, NBAA

12:45 pm – 1:15 pm Overview of Regulatory Requirements for Cross Border Flights
Laura Everington, Universal Weather and Aviation; BC Campbell, Skyservice Business Aviation

There are a wide variety of regulatory agencies that have oversight of cross-border flights. Learn about the role that agencies such as CBP and TSA, play in regulating flights to the U.S. For flights to Canada, learn how agencies such as the CBSA and CTA regulate business aviation.

1:15 pm – 2:00 pm Trusted Traveler Programs in Canada
Sara Wiebe, Canada Border Services Agency

Programs such as CANPASS allow registered operators to provide low-risk, pre-screened travelers with expedited clearances and access to more airports when traveling to Canada from the U.S. Learn about how to utilize CANPASS, the telephone reporting center, and other trusted traveler programs offered in Canada.

2:00 pm – 2:45 pm Best Practices for Clearing Customs in the U.S.
Eric Rodriguez, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (invited)

With new requirements, such as the need to transmit passenger manifest and flight information using APIS, conducting flights between the U.S. and Canada can be a complex process. By having a thorough understanding of applicable CBP regulations, operators can be fully prepared for their arrival in the U.S.

2:45 pm – 3:15 pm Break (In Exhibit Hall)

3:15 pm – 3:45 pm Obtaining Economic Authority from the U.S. DOT
George Wellington, U.S. Department of Transportation (invited); Gary Garofalo, Garofalo Goerlich Hainbach PC

Canadian operators planning to conduct commercial flights in the United States must obtain economic authority from the Department of Transportation. Learn about the application process and regulatory requirements for operating commercial flights in the U.S.

3:45 pm – 4:15 pm Obtaining Authorization to Conduct Commercial Flights in Canada
William Clark, Clark & Company

Part 135 operators in the U.S. that wish to conduct commercial flights in Canada must receive approval from both the CTA and Transport Canada. Learn about the application process and regulations for conducting commercial flights in Canada.

4:15 pm – 5:00 pm Roundtable Discussion with Regulators
Greg Kulis, Limited Brands (Moderator)

Our panel of regulators will answer questions from the audience.

5:00 pm - 6:30 pm Networking Reception (In Exhibit Hall)

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 2010

9:00 am – 9:10 am Day 2 Introduction
San Barone, CBAA

9:10 am - 9:40 am Overview of Cabotage Restrictions
Bill Clark, Clark & Company; Gary Garofalo, Garofalo Goerlich Hainbach PC

Cabotage is defined as the transport of goods or passengers between two points in the same country. When conducting flights between points within the U.S. or Canada, operators must be aware of how cabotage restrictions can impact operations. For example, under certain circumstances, operators from the U.S. may not be able to carry passengers between two points within Canada.

9:40 am - 10:10 am Break (In Exhibit Hall)

10:10 am - 11:45 am Cabotage Restrictions in Canada and the U.S.
Catherine McDonald, Canadian Transportation Agency; Cathy Munroe, Canada Border Services Agency; John Tremills, Transport Canada; George Wellington, U.S. Department of Transportation (invited)

Learn about the cabotage restrictions in Canada and the U.S. from the regulators responsible for developing guidance on the topic. While guidance has been issued by both countries, many questions remain. Understand how the regulations impact business aviation through the review of specific examples provided by operators.

11:45 am – 12:30 pm Ask the Experts
Our panel of experts will answer questions from the audience.
